Over 2,000,000 Shares Sold

Florida National Bank Stock Changes Hands

Florida National Banks—operators of Florida First National in Belle Glade and 31 other banks around the state of Florida, announced a major stock sale Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Multi-millionaire and business magnate Ed Ball made the announcement from the Alfred I. duPont trustees in Jacksonville. The trustees agreed to sell all of their stock in Florida National Banks of Florida, Inc., a Florida corporation.

Stockholders in the new corporation will be officers, directors and stockholders of Florida National and certain valued customers of its subsidiary banks.

In effect, the stock transaction keeps 2,000,000 shares from being dumped on the open market. The trustees had been ordered by the Federal Reserve System to get rid of the stock by Dec. 31 of this year.

In the official press release the trustees announced:

"Mr. Edward Ball, of Jacksonville, Florida, one of the Trustees under the will of Alfred I. duPont, on behalf of those Trustees, today advised that the Trustees had agreed to sell all of its stock of Florida National Banks of Florida, Inc. to Florida National Associates, Inc., a Florida corporation, whose stockholders will be officers, directors and stockholders of Florida National and certain valued customers of its subsidiary banks. The sale must be approved by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

This sale represents the second step in a plan by the duPont Trustees designed to turn over the ownership of a controlling interest in Florida National to its directors and employees. The first step was taken in 1971 when the Trust sold one to ten per cent of the stock of Florida National's subsidiary banks to those individuals at book value and made bank financing available. In three years, that stock has been paid for.

"The present block of stock, 2,330,638 shares, 24.7 per cent of Florida National's total issue, has been sold to Florida National Associates pursuant to a plan by which the duPont Trustees give the purchaser three years, interest-free and with no payment on principal required, within which to pay for, or raise funds necessary to pay the purchase price of stock. The duPont Trustees will, however, be divested of all title to, and voting rights in the stock upon approval of the plan by the Federal Reserve System. At that time, title to all of the stock will be vested in the trustees chosen by the purchasers.

"The sale was made pursuant to a 1966 amendment to the Federal Bank Holding Company Act of 1956, which required duPont Trusts to divest itself of either banking or non-banking assets within five years, and also pursuant to an order of the Federal Reserve System that the duPont Trust divest itself of the stock now being sold to Florida National Associates before December 31, 1974.

"Mr. Ball pointed out that the sale was very much in the public interest, stating that the plan was:

"The stock market generally is depressed. The market price of Florida National's stock is depressed far below average as a result of the Board's order requiring the Trust to dump more than 2,000,000 shares of stock of Florida National on the market prior to December 31, 1974.

"This plan will take those shares off the market and thereby benefit immeasurably two deserving segments of the public: first, those persons who have invested institutional and trust funds in Florida National and their associates who own almost a tenth of that corporation's outstanding stock who have been protected from an unrealistic drop in the value of their investment."

"The plan was submitted to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System today for consideration. Mr. Ball stated that the Trustees had high hopes for early favorable approval by that Board. He said of the Trustees' plan:

"This plan will establish in America an institution which has the vision, the ideals, and the opportunities for Florida National's employees which Americans like to claim are available in America for all Americans, but which all too seldom are. The duPont Trustees are offering to make them available to those persons who have, with them, made Florida National the success it is today. In doing that, it also will give the people of Florida a home-owned group of banks, managed by those who have made them successful and who, because of their experience, can, if given the chance and the inspiration of ownership, make them much more so."

Chamber Drive In Final Stages

The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce announced Tuesday night it had 226 members in the fold in this year's membership drive.

The board of directors divided 46 delinquent accounts evenly between two competing teams for the final two weeks of the drive. When the drive is over later this month the winning team will be treated to a steak dinner by the losers, while the losers eat beans.

So far the team headed by Leo Berryhill is well in the lead. The opposition is led by Alvaro Sanchez of Big B Ranch.

The board of directors also adopted a firm personnel policy for both salaried and hourly employees. Two points in the policy drawn up by a specially appointed committee were questioned, but only one was adopted.

Vacation pay was the first controversial point. The committee recommended that an unlimited amount of vacation time be allowed to be earned. An employee employed for six months is allowed one week vacation with the second week being earned after one year. Starting with the sixth year one additional working day per year was recommended by the committee.

There was no stipulation as to how many additional days could be earned. It was pointed out that after 30 years an employee would be eligible for five weeks. The question was asked if the vacation pay would be based on full-time work.

Getting people to stay at the same job for any length of time is my biggest problem," said Sanchez. "If a person will stick with us for 20 years then I think we should give him everything he has earned."

The full board agreed and no limit was placed on earned vacation.

The second area of question was in sick leave. The committee did not specify whether a person who had accumulated sick leave would be paid for that sick leave if they left the employ of the Chamber.

The board decided to pay all accrued sick leave, up to 30 days, if the person involved left voluntarily and was not asked to leave.

An annual wage review along with six paid holidays were also adopted in the personnel policy. Sick leave will be earned at the rate of one-half day for every month of employment, not to exceed 30 days total.

In other action the chamber took bids on an electric typewriter with extra type. McCall's office supply was low with a bid of $297.76. It just barely beat a bid of Halsey Griffin of $299.50. Raulerson's Office Supply was high with a bid of $300.

Since the new typewriter is an unbudgeted item the bids were referred to the Finance Committee for further study. The Chamber also agreed to today's Herald and to have the 50 West sign repainted and realigned.

Another Sign Of The Times

Things are looking up at Tom Norton Motor Company these days. The Cadillac-Pontiac-Dodge-DeSoto dealer has brought a new business to town—Scott Muffler. Scott is another quality service, low cost muffler service modeled along the lines of Mids. It is in the process of opening up shops throughout the entire United States. The new sign was installed by Gerlach Signs of Belle Glade.

Will City Be Permitted To Continue Sewer Job?

With a large portion of modification work already done at the Belle Glade Sewer treatment plant, the city found recently it must get permits to do the work begun in early 1973.

The city was told during a special meeting in December 1972, which resulted in the plant modifications, the permits wouldn't be needed "things have changed" according to one state official.

Warren G. Strahm, who heads the State Department of Pollution Control office in Fort Lauderdale, said the city would have to get the permits and should have applied for them before beginning construction. He said Paul Phillips, an engineer in his office, is handling the case. Phillips was once an employee with the Palm Beach County Department of Pollution Control and said during the December meeting the permits would be required.

But County Environmental Pollution Control Officer Jack Cooper overruled him, saying the job could be handled by operating permits.

Strahm said Phillips, in his new position now, is more familiar with the case than he, Strahm, is, but that's all that had discussed the matter with him.

"When the agreement was made," he said, "Cooper was head of the county agency and Mr. Phillips was working with him but that's all that changed now."

Strahm said he didn't believe the construction permits would offer any more than a paperwork problem since the engineers should know what requirements are.

He said he didn't foresee any major problems but said any time a sewage treatment plant is being modified enough to expand its capacity or hook up new customers, construction permits must be obtained.

"One important thing," City Manager William Mallory said, "is that Cooper is gone and Larry Lukin is gone. We know what's happened in the past but I believe we can work with these new people and that's what we're trying to do."

Mallory said the reconstructioned plant has never been inspected by the county or state pollution control agencies but an inspection is due next week.

In order to make the inspection easier, he said, the permits are being handled as a top the county agency and the engineers, Briley-Wild and Associates.

City Attorney John Baker said one of the major problems is overlapping authority, with the Palm Beach County Environmental Pollution Control Hearing Board operating as an authorized agency of the state.

Strahm agreed, saying the city must by law go through the county agency and the county agency must act although the state agency in this case has final authority to issue or reject permits for modifying the treatment plant.

Baker suggested during the city commission meeting Monday night the commission might try to get the two agencies together to find what, exactly, they want the city to do.

If no agreement can be reached there would have to be taken to Tallahassee, "and if they can't resolve it, we're going to have to take it to court to get a decision."

City Commissioner William Greer pointed out months ago he didn't believe the city would be able to satisfy all the agencies.

"I said then we should get a commitment from them on what they want," Greer said. "They weren't satisfied now and they won't be satisfied until we build a new facility."

Lake Level Going Down

The normal navigation depth of eight feet in Lake Okeechobee will not be maintained if the Lake's level continues to fall at the present rate according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Corps Operations Division Chief Earl G. Gren said Wednesday the current level of the lake is 12.81 feet above sea level and is falling.

The normal project depth of eight feet of navigable water is based on a lake elevation of 12.56 feet.

Will Grass Fires Go Unanswered?

The Belle Glade City Fire Department may no longer answer calls to grass fires outside the city unless an agreement can be reached with the State Forestry Service in the near future.

Fire Chief Floyd Smith and Belle Glade Director of Public Safety Charles Goodlett said the city has normally answered all calls outside the city previously but a mutual assistance pact is no longer working out.

"With the size of fire the Forestry Service for fighting on the city's grass fires Monday night, all the assistance is going one way."

He said the original agreement was reached with the Palm Beach Fire Control system but that when the Forestry Service took over, he has found himself supplying more and more aid outside the city.

"I have never refused to go to a home fire outside the city limits," Smith said, "and I don't think we should but when you're called to three or four grass fires a day, that gets old."

He said he has been told a number of times recently when he called for Forestry Service on 441 that they had units working on two fires already, "and would you mind taking this one for us."

Smith said one of the problems is that the Forestry Service, when it took over from the old Fire Control setup, began getting rid of any equipment used for fighting structural fires and leaving other equipment to the coast.

"Now," he said, "all the Forestry Service has in the Glades is two pieces of equipment, and the service often sends one of these to Loxahatchee or to another station elsewhere."

"You can't even call them locally," Smith told the commissioners. "They have a number on the coast and you've got to call long distance. They want a central dispatch center."

One thing that led to Smith's appearance before the commission was a recent fire at a junk yard behind Triangle Bowling Lanes on SR30 south of town. Smith said his men fought the blaze for five or six hours with no help from the Forestry Service before they finally left it still smoldering.

City Manager William Mallory said this was bad because if the department had been called to fight a house fire in the city, they wouldn't have been at peak efficiency after working on many hours on the junk yard blaze.

Goodlett said he directed Smith to make a bid to the Forestry Service for fighting the fire for them and it came to more than $500, largely because of the wages the city paid volunteers.

The commission also found the pump and motor at the raw water intake at Winnie's Cove had broken down and are now in Arizona being repaired.

The commission decided to authorize bids for a new pump and motor for the facility and, once the old pump and motor are rebuilt, use them for backup equipment.

One of the problems of the old facility was that the only way repairs could be got to the old motor was to flip up the pump and motor, since both were submerged. The new motor will be above water.

While on the subject of water supply, Mallory told the commissioners he had been informed by the city's engineers the report of a study done of the city's entire water system has been completed

Help Habilitation

As we said, last week, this is Mental Health Month in the Glades.

Hand in hand with mental health goes mental retardation. There is a difference in the two which many people do not understand.

A mentally ill person can be as intelligent as any average person walking along the street. Many times he is far brighter than the average person. All too often mental illness is brought on by lack of mental capacity to learn and understand.

This is mental retardation. The inability to learn or understand is both inherited and caused. A minor birth defect can cause a child to be born without the capacity to understand what the normal child can understand.

Or, a child who falls from his high chair or some other similar place at an early age, can be damaged so that the ability to learn never progresses beyond that of a child of eight or nine.

Just as the Glades has a new organization to deal with the mentally ill, so it has an even newer organization to deal with the mentally and physically handicapped. We told you a little about the Glades Habilitation Center work in an issue last month.

It is working with the mentally and physically handicapped people of the Glades. It is providing hope for them that they too may become useful human beings.

Now it needs your help. But not in the way many organizations ask for help right off the bat.

The Glades Habilitation Center is opening resale store on Ave. A in Belle Glade where the old Fabric Center used to be. If it is only half the success of the main center's resale store in Lake Worth, it will be fabulous.

What the center does is take second hand goods donated by the community, clean them up and put them into the resale store. Many, many bargains are found there. Besides second hand goods the center also imports in bulk quantities fine knits and double knits for sale.

So right now it needs your help in getting stocked. The store on Ave. A will be open around May 1. The center needs anything you can give it—old clothes, furniture, lamps, rugs, you name it.

It's a chance to clean out your closets. Get rid of some of that spring house cleaning. How about it? If you want to help contact the center at 996-9094. It's for your own good—and Belle Glades.

Move Over Piotr Ilich, Here's The Skillet Lickers

Lordy, I couldn't believe it. Down-home, stick-buddy country and western music in Russia...land of Piotr Ilich Tchaikovsky?

To paraphrase the old rock 'n' roll song, Roll over Tchaikovsky and tell Rachmaninoff the news.

The way I get it, country artist as the deejays say on radio) George Hamilton IV was invited to the Soviet Union by the American Embassy there to explain country music to the Russians.

And I used to joke around wondering what it would be like to see Leonard Bernstein conduct the Grand Ole Opry...and then explain it to a full house at Carnegie Hall.

According to the news stories, interpretation was one of Hamilton's major problems...and I can believe it. If you can imagine the problems the interpreters probably had with words such as "hoedown," "jamboree" and "hillbilly," think about the fun they must have had with the description of one of his own early records, "Brunk My Mind."

He told the Muscovites it was a, "titty-gritty, up-tight, folk-country, psychedelic love ballad."

That must have been something like trying to describe a South Dakota blizzard to a South Pacific Islander who's never been in contact with the outside world.

It wasn't particularly surprising the only one of several country singers the Russians had heard of was "Dehonny Kesh," although you would have thought they would have heard of Gid Tanner and the Skillet Lickers.

Now, it'd be interesting to see Breshnev's reaction to things like grits, country ham and red eye gravy and maybe some sour mash bourbon. Maybe there's hope for this old world yet.

Like the farmer said about the mule as he picked up the two-by-four, "It ain't so hard to get him to do what you want, but sometimes you have to get his attention."

Course a well-applied needle does as well as a two-by-four usually. At least that's what I've found and it sure worked last week.

I'd commented that it was sometimes pretty hard to hear certain city politicians when they'd rear back on their seats and speak away from their microphones, or that it was a shame the city had spent so much money on a public address system and it not be put to use.

So Commissioner Ralph Kirk thought he'd get some of his own back Monday night by asking me if I could hear him after he'd practically climbed into the mike.

Then he decided to jab a little deeper by suggesting the reason I couldn't hear our fearless leaders was because I'd fallen asleep.

Now, I've got to admit, falling asleep is an occupational hazard when we Connell's Chevron Service Station newsmen cover the Belle Glade commission. Gentle murmuring and warm breezes generally do that to most people.

As a matter of fact, it was during one of these meetings I formed a new club, United Newsmen Easily Nauseated During Intermittent Non-newsworthy Gatherings. Put the words together into the mandatory acronym and you came up with UNENDING.

Just kidding, guys. Actually, I've got to admit: the commission meetings haven't been nearly as long as the past few months as they were previously.

So, what would YOU do if someone told you they had three color Not $130 each but $130 for all three. I don't know about you but I guess there's enough larceny in my soul I'd probably do the same thing Randy Whaley and Warren Spill did.

They were minding their own business, which is pumping gas at Connell's Chevron Service Station on South Main Street, when the guy told them about the sets.

And you know Randy and Warren had to speak a little Turkish...gobble, gobble. They weren't content to go for it hook, line and sinker. They had to go for the pole too.

Just so happened Randy had the $30 and Warren was holding a $100 bill in

It's a crime the way some people mistake the detraction of the word "blackmail."

In the early Scottish dialects the word "blackmail" meant rent that was paid, and even in modern Scotland a tenant is still called a "miller."

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

THE SKY'S THE LIMIT IN RURAL AMERICA

With more and more people moving to cities for economic reasons, three out of every four Americans, in the 48 contiguous states, are crowded onto only 2 percent of the land. In fact, only 100 metropolitan areas hold more than half of all our citizens!

To offset this serious imbalance in the distribution of the nation's population, the nation's business leaders are pointing the way by creating more jobs in rural America.

And, now, business aircraft are making that more possible than ever before! Indeed, forward-looking communities outside the metropolitan complexes are attracting many new plants of alert companies whose executives keep in touch with fast-flying enterprises through company-operated or chartered aircraft.

The airport is a community's front door today. Companies whose executives travel by company aircraft are highly successful, according to the National Business Aircraft Association. Of the nation's 1000 top leading firms, 427 fly their own business aircraft, and these 427 firms: Account for 76 percent of the top 1000 companies' total sales;

Hold 79 percent of all assets of the top 1000 industries;

Have sales per employee of $38,442, compared with $34,153 for the remaining top industries which don't have their own business aircraft;

Employ 76 percent of all people employed by the top 1000 firms.

By the types of aircraft used by these 427 companies are generally evenly divided. There were, by the beginning of 1973, 1,284 fixed-wing aircraft and 57 helicopters.

And, now, with that ever-increasing use all over the nation, Rural America will once again fly high—with jobs, payrolls and taxes.

off the record

with Glenn Laney

Well, Dean wouldn't let me write a long column last week so I guess I have to make up for it this week. Dean claims I'm just lazy and used his "kidding" remark as an excuse to turn out a short column. He'll never know. Or maybe he already does.

Lots of construction going on in Belle Glade—good sign for the future. B.D. Cole is going up next to us, Milton Carpenter is building around the corner, down the street. Everglades Federal is getting it's new building underway and Asgrow-Kilgor is building on Airport Rd.

Unfortunately the plans for a second shopping center in Belle Glade on State Rd. 715 have fallen through. But the main store reported to be in the center is still seeking a location in Belle Glade. That would be A & P if the reports were accurate.

Food chains, restaurant chains, actually chains of all kinds are looking for one thing. All of them are looking for population. Many have company policies that unless a market area has a certain population it just isn't to be considered.

Belle Glades population is basically at a standstill right now because of its sewer problems. For instance, there is a real nice place just down the street from my office.

But because of our sewer problems it has only been approved for a single family dwelling. And while the city claims it is improving the sewer system we already have—that isn't what is needed.

What is needed is additional sewer capacity. Whether this is achieved by adding on to the present sewer plant, or building another one in another section of town is not important.

The house crum continues to get worse and worse. We need more nice apartments like the ones on Main St. that can't get approved so far.

Three local heads of business were sitting around talking over coffee the other morning. One was complaining because he couldn't find a house to buy, while the other was complaining he couldn't get city sewers to his.

The housing problem reaches every segment of the population. We have all kinds of people through our office looking for a place to live. We have very few schools to help them, because it is so very seldom we have anything advertised for rent.

When we do have a for rent ad, the person who runs it invariably is hounded with calls the same day the paper comes out. We know, because we check back with people who run for rent ads. There is no problem in finding renters.

So as long as Belle Glade's population is frozen as it is, there will be services this area will have to do without. This, of course, hurts everybody—not just John Doe citizen, but other businesses as well.

The more competitive services we have in Belle Glade, and I underline the word competitive, the less chance somebody is going to go to the coast for that service.

For instance, if I want to go to a movie (not a drive-in) I simply must go to the coast. So, do I go to the coast just to go to the movie? No, and neither does anybody else here.

Since I'm going to drive at least 100 miles I might as well get my gasoline's worth. I plan to make it a day. And I end up spending money in West Palm I would normally spend in Belle Glade all because we don't have that one, simple little service. And we don't have that service because there isn't a company who feels there is enough population out here to warrant such a service.

It is all really a vicious circle. Belle Glade could grow. It could grow orderly. But it won't as long as we are tied to our present sewers.

The would be shopping center on 715 in Chosen is definitely off the boards. It would have brought another four chains to town, plus at least one large "department" store. Used restrictions on the land finally drove the nail in the coffin.

To bad. It would have been nice for Belle Glade. Glades Shopping Plaza has proven to be a real big success. It has given people in Belle Glade a real nice place to shop. It has contributed to the overall economy by keeping more people at home.

And after all, that's what it is all about. Welcome aboard Doug.

Talk about staying home. That's exactly what old Doug "Preacher" Lockhart at Watson Ford did for part of last week. Doug has qualified for the My Elv Knives Club.

Welcome aboard Doug.

North American Indians have walking-on-water contests. They're hard to win, and even harder if you lose!

Got a real weird news release in the mail Monday from the Internal Revenue Service Office in Jacksonville. The infunnel revenue men make it a practice of sending out releases on each case they're investigating. The funny part about this release was that out of a total of eight investigations they were writing about, seven were titled, "Airline Pilot Indicted."

That's enough to make the ears of any newsmen prick up. And to build the interest a little further, they were all indicted on the same charge: one count of filing a false and fraudulent exemption from withholding certificate, the form W-4.

The revenue men didn't say what they'd done exactly, except for saying they all worked for the same airline and where they got what is obviously bum advice.

However had their advice was though, it couldn't have been as bad as the advice one Richard M. Nixon chose to take. Almost half a million dollars in back taxes he owes...Wow!

It's all relative though. As one newsmen pointed out Tuesday, that's enough to just about last the Pentagon for three minutes.

Peter Cottontail Arrives

What's Easter without a bunny and what's a bunny without candy? The kids at West Cape Center wouldn't know because they had him on hand last week when a somewhat oversized hare made a surprise visit and helped satisfy the sweet tooth of each of the tykes cared for at the center. It was hard to say who enjoyed the encounter more, though: the kids, the bunny or the staff members at West Cape and when Mr. Rabbit got around to hippity-bopping on his way, he'd become so popular some of the kids didn't want him to leave. The visit wouldn't have been possible without the help of Royal's Department Stores and U-Seve and Kwik Check Grocery Stores.

Baby Bunnies Arrive In Time For Easter

When Easter rolls around, there will be one batch of bunnies serving dual, and maybe tertiary, purpose. When David Teets decided last September to work for the rabbit raising merit badge, making it his 25th merit badge since he's been in the Boy Scouts, he hadn't thought he'd be raising Easter bunnies.

But that's how it worked out. About the time Easter rolls around, David will be ready to hand out the five members of the first litter he was able to coax out of Snow White, a New Zealand rabbit, to other scouts so they can earn their merit badges.

But Snow White will stay in the Frank Teets family since David intends to give her to his younger brother, Jim, for the same purpose.

The way it's worked out, according to David's mother, "we'll be giving them out about Easter and the boy's mothers love us for it." But this was one case when the Easter bunny didn't come easily. David said Snow White had a false pregnancy the first time he mated her but the second time he was successful. He said he was given Snow White by Mike Fincannon, another scout in Troop 621, but the male was a dud. He finally mated Snow White with her father.

Each year, the library invites the schools in the area to show their works for a month and this is Glades Day School's month and Mrs. Earwood invited the public to view the students' efforts.

"You will find it worth your time to see the interesting variety on display," she said. "Our year began with a unit on American Indian Life. Then we moved on to perspective drawing and Golden Autumn. Our ceramics came next with clay sculpture, then Winter in the Country and a unit on illustration.

The spring has found us doing sports, sailboats, birds, butterflies and bugs and so forth. We will complete our year with commercial unit on lettering and advertising design."

Telephone Telegram Telecake

Telephone, telegram and telecake. Glades bakery has it all. Wayne Tullos, owner of the Belle Glade bakery, announced this week he has become a participant of Telecake International, a business association designed to offer a bakery customers what florists have offered for years.

Should they wish, Tullos' customers can now select a cake from the local bakery shop and have it made and decorated to order for a friend or relative in another city.

Leland Gets Glades Post After Driving 250,000 Miles

The Cleodis Leland family of Belle Glade may not have a partridge in their pear tree — they really do have a pear tree — but they could do better than most in filling out a list of unusual gifts for the 12 Days of Christmas.

One Pea Hen setting, two peacocks strutting, two bus drivers driving, five beauty queens — winning, seven ponies trotting, one collic barking, one boxer growling, six exotic chickens clucking, and a partridge-less pear tree.

For eight years, Leland has driven the Belle Glade bus for Palm Beach Junior College, and in the past six, the well-lit driver, warehouseman, and campus mailman, hasn't missed a day of work due to illness.

"I came to work several times, though, when I was sick enough to be home in bed," Leland admits.

During this time Leland has driven an estimated quarter of a million miles — approximately 25 times around the world — and has seen the campus mishroom to triple in size.

And now, because of the popularity of the year-old PBJC Glades Center, the number of riders has diminished from a peak of 82 in the early years to the present 11 riders.

A decision was made recently to discontinue the bus because of the gas crisis and the few riders.

On May 8, Leland will transfer to the Glades Center. The transfer will give Leland an extra hour of sleep, since he'll no longer have to travel to Canal Point and Pahokee in the morning nor will he have to drive the 128 miles round trip to work.

Mrs. Leland has driven a school bus in Belle Glade for 13 years, and recently won the Women's Civic League mazi contest as "best-dressed woman."

The Leland family has four daughters, ranging in age from 20 to nine, all of whom have held various beauty titles.

Patricia, the oldest, now attending Florida Atlantic University held the title Miss Belle Glade in 1972.

Michelle, 11, presently Little Junior Miss — a title also held by several of her sisters in the past — was crowned recently by the Elite Community Club.

The girls have also had Ballet training at Imperial Studios, Palm Beach.

Three of the girls belong to H.C. Club, and have won various competitions at the South Florida Fair.

Deirdre, 14, was several ribbons for showing their collic, Lessee, Michelle won ribbons for her light Bahama, Rhode Island Red and Cornish Game Hens, and Kimberly Fay, 10, won a gold ribbon for showing Shander, the pony.

In the future, the Leland family is considering buying some land in the Lehighville area, to raise ponies and peafowl, and may also build a pony ring.

"Palm Beach Junior College is fortunate to have Cleo," says Dr. Harold C. Manor, PBJC president.

"We'll miss him very much at the main campus. It's an asset to the college, and should be a valuable employee at the Glades Center," Manor added.

District Committee For Scouts To Meet

Glades District Scouters will take part in a District Committee meeting April 18 at Community United Methodist Church, heading up scouting activities for the rest of the month.

The meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m.

Other activities scheduled for district scouters for the month of April include re-charter applications for Pack 6667 and Troop 667 on April 15 and an annual council planning meeting on April 22.

On April 28-29, there will be an Order of the Arrow session convalesce and April 27 is Keep America Beautiful Day. The month of May will begin with a staff planning conference May 13 and an Order of the Arrow chapter meeting on May 7 at the home of Robert Fincannon.

The 1974 Scout Exposition will be held May 10-11 at the West Palm Beach Auditorium, a district committee meeting will be held at the Community United Methodist Church and an annual council planning meeting will be held May 20. Re-charter applications will be due for Pack 665 and Troop 665 on May 15.

'Academic Students Are Treated Unfairly' - Claims GCHS Senior

An advanced student at Glades Central High School said that the school is treating academic students unfairly because she couldn't take the courses she wanted.

Linda Zawadzki said during Belle Glade's third listening post session, held at Gladesview Elementary School, she felt vocational students were treated better.

"They're learning a trade," she said, "but I'm not being readied for college when I can't take trigonometry or Chemistry II."

Miss Zawadzki began the conversation when she asked Carroll why teachers are being cut but before the discussion was over, it had been joined by West Area Superintendent James Maynor and Glades Central Principal Roy Carter.

Carter said one of the Miss Zawadzki's problems is that not enough students are interested in taking the two courses she mentioned. He said there were only three or four students who would like to speak in Carroll's office.

Carroll said he wasn't sure if the answer is for advanced students but said one possible answer might be the combining of Glades Central and Pahokee High to some extent.

In the meantime, he suggested the student try to work something out with Carter to get individual instruction by working with one of the teachers in the field of the course desired.

One woman in the group suggested the Glades needs one "strictly academic" high school designed to prepare area students for college.

"Some students need courses like this," she told Carroll, "and they don't do very well on their own. We've had some people try it and when they get to the University of Florida or Florida State, they've lost out."

Another subject taking up quite a bit of time was the cutting of some teachers' contracts.

A group of parents from Pahokee presented a petition with more than 200 signatures asking Carroll to reconsider his move to terminate Pahokee High School basketball coach Paul Hager.

"It seems," one woman said, "as though every time we get a teacher the students like and can get along with, he's fired."

Maynor immediately said he would like to speak in Carroll's office, saying that while Carroll's name was the one to appear in print concerning the termination of the teachers, every name passed through his office.

"He had some 60 names recommended to be let go," Maynor said, "and he decided to go ahead with only 15 of them."

Carroll said he holds the prime responsibility for the final decision to terminate teachers' contracts but said he relies heavily on the recommendations of the principals and area superintendents.

"I hold each principal responsible for operating his school," Carroll said, "and if I'm going to hold him responsible, and he believes the school would be better off without the teacher, I'll usually back him."

"If I find a case," he said however, "where I really believe the principal is trying to do the teacher in, then I'll deal with that," but added this occurs in only a small percentage of cases.

He said he could remember dealing with such cases when people who had signed petitions to retain a teacher had come to him later and said they really felt the teacher should be terminated.

He said he had also been asked in some cases to hold teachers for another year to try to give him another chance and to transfer teachers to other schools.

"I don't believe in putting a teacher on a continuing contract simply because he fails to fail," Carroll said, and "shuffling teachers from school to school has been a disservice with this system and I'm giving the responsibility to the principal."

Local Boy Interns Here

Jeffrey Harris, 21, is a Belle Glade hometown-boy-made-good who didn't have to go off to the big city to make it although he has been gone for a couple of years.

Harris is the first teacher intern in several years to be closing out his senior year at Florida Atlantic University by interning at Lakeshore Elementary School.

When he reported for duty on Mar. 27, Harris had one thing going for him many beginning teachers don't have. He was returning home.

"I've lived in Belle Glade all my life," the son of Mrs. Marie Hicks of 709 W. Ave. A said, "except for the time I've spent away in college." Harris was one of the five teachers assigned to the Glades this term by FAU, with one going to Gove Elementary, another to Glades Central High School and two others being assigned to Pahokee.

He said he is looking forward to returning to the Glades for full time employment as a teacher once he is graduated from FAU in June.

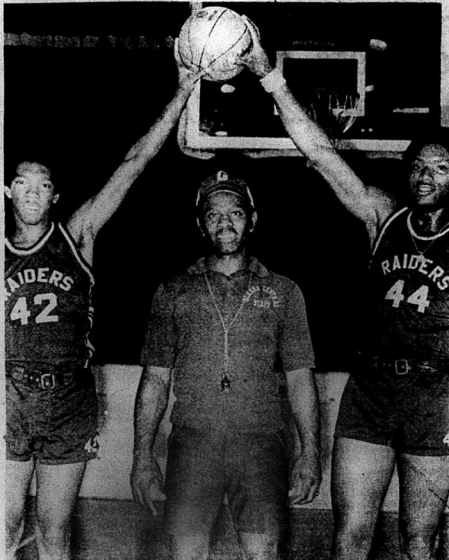

In the meantime, Harris works under the direction of Willie J. Scott, his Supervising Teacher.

Scott gave Harris assignments in his own fifth grade class, grading him accordingly, and Harris also spends time in other classrooms with other teachers, observing their methods.

The Tall And Short Of It

Glades Central High School basketball coach Willie McDonald (center) seems slightly more than pleased with his two top Raiders for the 1973 season, Marvin Allen (left) and David Jones. Or maybe that grin comes from the realization he still has another year with Jones on his team although Allen, who made the All-Conference, All-Region, All-Area and All-State teams, will be graduating in June.

Bowling News

14-200 games were bowled Tuesday night: Bill Hill with a 253, Ray Alston 236-204, Ken Brane 236, Ben James and Bobby Hooks 228, Herschel Bowling and Bill Derrick 215, Frank Cochran 213, Bill Marshino 209, Hugh Lansford 206, Jerry Bradley 204-202, and Leroy Rhodes 202. There were 2-600 sets Bill Hill 606 and Ken Brane 612. Cochran Gulf Service bowled high team series 2170 and Glades Sugar took high team game with a 791. High Series bowled by men and women as follows: Ken Brane 612, Bill Hill 606, and Ray Alston 578; Ruby Cantrell 490, Marty Crawford 457, Roe Marshino 437.

Ruby had high game of 181, Roe 165, and Marty 159.

With just two weeks of bowling left team standings as of 4/2/74 Old Man Willis & Jr. 78%—33%, Willis Flying Service 76%—35%, Cochran Gulf 68-44, Bettersen TV 65-49, Weeks Grocery 57%—54%, Glades Sugar 54-58, Palms club 49-43, Team #1 44-68, Team #10 38%—73%, Evercare Sugar 31-80.

Well, ole Hank Aaron finally put the baseball world to rest by slugging his 715th homer Monday night against the Los Angeles Dodgers in a radio-televised game.

I bet no one was happier than Henry himself when he saw that ball sail over the fence into the Braves' bullpen. You could just see that expression of relief and joy come over his face as he rounded first and headed for second, keeping both eyes on the ball.

And who can blame him? After countless hours with reporters and officials who wanted to get into the picture, anyone would be glad to get it over with.

Atlanta really played it up to Aaron with a special tribute complete with balloons, plaques, speeches and even an outline of the United States decorated with the colors of the flag. The best thing though was the statue of Aaron which was revealed. The ceremony took place before the game and everything was removed but the map of the U.S., which became a target for jokes among some people.

Hank's homer came in the fourth inning with a man on base. Of course I, along with who know how many others, watched the game ready to record the event in my mind to use as a conversation piece in case anyone brings it up, which on doubt someone will.

Although I eagerly followed Henry

Aaron to see if (or rather when) he would break Babe Ruth's record, I don't profess to be an avid pro baseball follower, although I like to keep up with certain players and teams.

I know of some of the old greats like Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra and read about Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig but when it comes to guys like Alvin Dark I know nothing. Glenn, who knows a lot about all of those old players, rattled off some names which didn't sound the least bit familiar to me. Of course it just goes to show how old he is, after all, some of those guys were before my time. I didn't even become that interested in baseball until I started playing softball a few years ago.

What I like best though is watching the fans' reactions when a foul ball is hit into the stands. There's a mad scramble for it and usually some middle aged guy with a beer gut comes up with the ball and jumps around the seats waving it in the air.

I especially wanted to see who would get Aaron's homerun ball, never thinking it would land in the Atlanta Braves' bullpen. It's all for the better, what with $25 thousand dollars resting on it, courtesy of Sammy Davis Jr. Someone could very easily have gotten hurt.

Anyway, to get back to Aaron, I'm glad he broke Ruth's record and can get up there beside him. After all, there's room for two isn't there?

Women Golfers Tee Off

Members of the Belle Glade Women's Golf Association with the first spring match Monday against the Lake Worth Country Club women golfers, 18-17 1/2. About to tee off first in the match (above) are Edith Venzlandingham, Shirley Hubbard, Renee Knight and Bessie Peiser. Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs.

Peiser are from Lake Worth. Other Belle Glade players were Maggie Fajul, Kay Weeks, Jo Knight, Pat Smith and Lillian Beverly. Next week, the Belle Glade women travel to the West Palm Beach Country Club to face the women golfers there.

Bike Tour To Pass Through

A world champion and seven national champions are expected to be among approximately 70 bicyclist riders when the ninth annual Cross Florida Tour comes through Belle Glade Saturday morning on their way to Fort Myers.

They'll get here about 8:30 a.m. after leaving West Palm Beach at 7 a.m. Sunday, they should be coming through on their return to West Palm Beach about 10 a.m. Anyone 45 minutes back of the leader at this point will be eliminated.

There will be no stop in Belle Glade this year.

The favorite to win a third time is John Howard of Houston, Tex. He has won this race twice, was national road champion in 1968-72-73, won the gold medal in the 1971 Pan-American Games, competed in two Olympics and three World Championships, and now is training for the prestigious Milk Race in England on May 26.

Roger Young is the national sprint champion. He has been in West Palm Beach a week and last weekend placed second in a 50-mile race at Coral Springs and won a 40-mile race at Tequesta.

Detroit has another national champion in Florida in Pat Nielsen, a junior. There are no age divisions in the Cross Florida this year, so he'll be competing against older riders.

PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE

At birth this child was blessed with a past, a present and a future beyond compare. This child was born an American.

The birthright of each of us as Americans entitles us to an opportunity for a way of life unexcelled in the world and there is nothing to stop us from multiplying our many blessings except ourselves. We, the our forefathers, who fought so gallantly for our freedom, must continue to fight. There is a small percentage in our great country who, having no respect for law and order, religion or anything else that we all hold so dear, are bent on the destruction of our nation.

Let the great majority of us continue to vote to change things in the legal and law abiding manner that has preserved our great nation for so long.

Inquiring Gardener

Q. My neighbor told me that I have mites on my trees, what should I do?
A. The warm, dry weather is ideal for mite activity. They suck juices from the plant's foliage, causing chlorosis or yellowing of affected foliage. Gradually the leaf will dry and curl in the case of broad-leaf plants. Controls is possible with Kelthane, Aramite, Ted-don, Ethion and other miticides.

Q. Do palms need to be fertilized now?
A. Yes! After the cooler winter weather and high winds, most palm trees are in need of fertilizer to stimulate them into rapid spring growth.

In the south Florida area, while growth may continue practically the year round, there is a dormant period during the winter months when the root growth either stops or slows down and becomes very active during the summer. Special care should be given to palms at this time to make sure they are supplied with the needed nutrients for the rapid flush of spring and summer growth.

Organic fertilizers such as Milorganite and manures are desirable for palms if the ground is open beneath the tree. From ten to 25 pounds of this type fertilizer applied under the leaf-spread of the tree, depending upon the size of the tree, is indicated. Commercial fertilizers such as an 8-8-8 or similar analysis may be used. Amount will vary according to the size of the tree from approximately 1 to 2 ounces for very small recently planted palms to 15 pounds for large mature trees, per application. Commercial fertilizers may be applied broadcast under the leaf-spread when the ground is bare or plowed and there is lawngrass beneath the tree. To apply, make holes about 1 foot deep and 2 feet apart, scattered similar tool may be used to punch the holes. Fill the holes with fertilizer and close them with the heel, leaving the lawn smooth.

A serious growth-retarding trouble with such palms as the queen palm, ornamental date palm, pygmy date, and royal palm, sometimes called frizzle leaf, curly-top, or curly-date, has been identified as a manganese deficiency. A chlorosis of the leaves in first symptom. In advanced stages the leaves are chlorotic, necrotic areas appear in the leaflets, the leaves are much reduced in size and the entire leaf presents the "frizzle leaf" appearance, especially on the queen palm. The date palm usually does not have the "frizzle leaf" appearance but will show the yellowing. Both soil and foliage applications of manganese sulfate are effective in controlling the trouble. One application per year is sufficient. One-half to 6 pounds of 65 per cent manganese sulfate per plant, depending upon size, is indicated. In applying spray, it is important to wet the buds thoroughly. A one-per cent manganese-lime spray is satisfactory.

Premature yellowing of areas and coconut palm fronds indicates magnesium deficiency. Epsom salts, applied at the rate of one-half to five pounds, depending upon the size of the tree, is indicated.

Mrs. Wallace Selected 1974's Willing Worker At St. Johns

Mrs. Evelyn Wallace was chosen Mrs. Willing Worker for 1974 during the Willing Workers Club's 19th annual contest and "occasion" held recently.

Mrs. Wallace won the annual honor in competition with Mrs. Anna Blackshear.

Club President Willie M. White said the members want to thank those persons who supported the occasion numerically, spiritually and financially.

For special thanks, Mrs. White cited Mrs. Patricia Murray, a Glades Central High School teacher who was the guest speaker, "and she was superb."

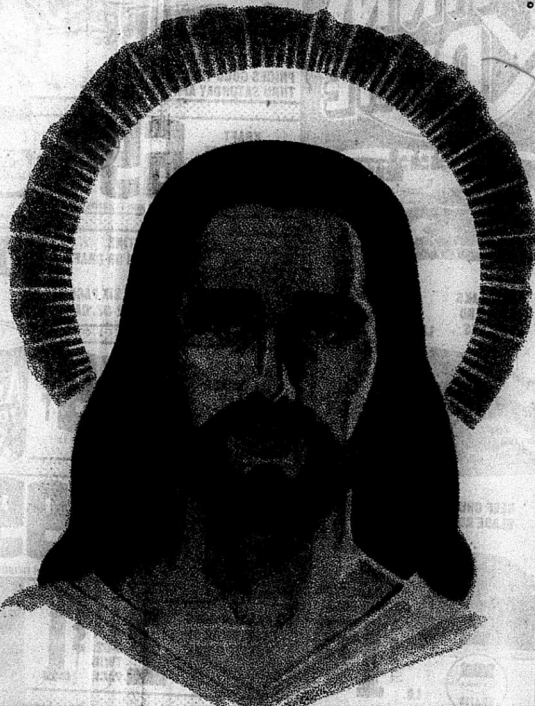

Also singled out were toastmaster James Allen Jr., Mrs. Effie Grear, Mrs. Shirley Speaks, Mrs. Josephine Harrison, Mrs. Mary Jones, William Truly, Mrs. D. McCurdy and Mrs. Nina Singleton.

She said the St. John's Choir, directed by J. Scott, president, and Mrs. W.C. Taylor, who provided the music, also deserve special thanks.

Mrs. White said the club raised a total of $3,433.15 at the occasion.

Members present were Mrs. R. Rutledge, Mrs. W.M. White, Mrs. E. Lang, Mrs. L. Bragg, Mrs. J. Reddings, Mrs. Hattie Sheppard, Mrs. Lucille Williams, Mrs. C. Maynor, Mrs. T. Fields, Mrs. Louise Oliver, Mrs. Mary Dunkley, Mrs. Mary Harris and Mrs. L. English.

One Parson Pontificates

Next Sunday is Easter, the day when many Christians make their annual pilgrimage to the church. I'm glad they are going to make it to church that day. If we preachers would spend more time preparing helpful sermons and less time visiting those who do not attend, we would all be better for it. The Lord commanded us [through his last words to Peter] to feed His sheep. If they come to be fed only once a year, let's be sure it is a good, nourishing meal! Who knows, some of them may regain their appetites. [See St. John 21]

EASTER EVERY DAY

Christ Jesus' unyielding love of God secured his resurrection and an endless example for all mankind.

THE TRUTH THAT HEALS

Broadcast this Sunday over station WSWN.

[A Christian Science Radio Series]

Sing Halleluia! Christ is risen... and joy fills the hearts of men, lifting our spirits, raising our hopes. The miracle of rebirth surrounds us. Especially now, at Easter, we long for peace and brotherhood...let's pray for it. And work for it. Together.

In appreciation of the sponsorship of this page, we would urge all church-going people to patronize the firms listed below

...before women of Presbyterian Church here.

Mrs. Anna Castor, mother of the Rev. Abe Castor, pastor of Everglades Presbyterian Church, will be the featured missionary speaker at the general meeting of the Women of the Church at Everglades Presbyterian Church, at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, April 16.

Mrs. Castor, the pastor's mother, is a graduate of the Presbyterian Polytechnic Institute, now, Inter-American University of Puerto Rico. A former Roman Catholic, she attended the Presbyterian mission school from elementary grades through high school, and was one of the first converts of the Presbyterian Church of Puerto Rico. After 40 years in New York State, Mrs. Anna Castor, retired to Puerto Rico, where she was licensed as a missionary of the Evangelical Church of Puerto Rico, and was especially active in girl's organizations of the churches for nine years.

In her role as a licensed missionary, she has had to perform unusual duties such as funeral services in the absence of any ordained ministers.

Now a resident of Anderson, S.C. Mrs. Castor is on demand as a popular missionary speaker for churches of many denominations addresses throughout South Carolina.

The special missionary service to be held at Everglades Presbyterian Church, North Main Street at Ave. K, at 8 p.m., April 16, is open to the general public and delegations from all churches of Belle Glade will be most welcome.

Camino de luz

En el Golgota el camino de la esperanza esta abierto para juzgar a los vivos para juzgar a los muertos.

Padre celestial, divino ya esta a tu diestra Jesus. El es la radiante luz del cielo y el peregrino.

El es la antorcha encendida, ejemplo de paz y amor, fuente de gracia y de vida, de la tierra el Redentor

Soneto al Crucificado

No me mueve ni Dios para quererte el cielo que me tienes prometido ni me mueve el infierno tan temido para dejar por eso de ofenderte.

Tu me mueves, Señor: me mueve el verte clavado en una cruz y escarnido; me mueve ver tu cuerpo tan herido; me mueven tus afrentas y tu muerte.

Mueven, en fin, tu amor, y en tal manera, que, aunque no hubiera cielo yo te amara, y aunque no hubiera infierno te temiera.

No me tiene que dar porque te quiera, pues aunque lo que espero no esperara, lo mismo que te quiero, te quisiera.

La Semana Santa

Hemos llegado a la Semana Santa, a la Semana Mayor de nuestro calendario cristiano. En ella estamos recordando, el amor mas intenso que nadie ha demostrado o dado a nosotros, sino Dios. Hemos experimentado ese amor, al mirar a la cruz donde el Hijo de Dios murió en redención de nosotros faltas y pecados. Esa cruz que nos "relega" o nos reúne con Dios. Esa cruz, que al nosotros aceptarla, establece nuestra rota relación por causa de los pecados con el Dios Creador y Padre.

Nuestro Salvador Cristo, obedeció la voluntad del Padre, y allí en el Getsemani, en su hora de angustia y dolor humano, por los sufrimientos físicos que le esperaban, y por los sufrimientos morales y espirituales de verse solo, entregado y vendido por uno de sus discípulos, negado por los otros, abandonado por los otros, clamó sin embargo: "NO MI VOLUNTAD, SINO LA TUYA PADRE".

Nos toca a nosotros en esta era y en estos tiempos modernos volver la espalda a la cruz, y al que se sacrificó por nosotros. Debemos enfrentarnos a ella y vivir con el gozo, el agradecimiento y la dignidad de ser partícipes del sacrificio y los beneficios de la cruz.

Usamos estos días que nos quedan para recordar, para asistir a nuestras respectivas congregaciones, para establecer mas íntimamente nuestros lazos de amor con ese Cristo, con nuestro Dios.

El domingo es el día de adorar a Dios. Asista a la Iglesia de su preferencia.

Todas estas Iglesias tienen servicios en español.

La exhortamos a que asista a la Iglesia de su preferencia. No deje pasar estos días importantes y vitales para nosotros los cristianos, sin adorar al que todo lo dio por nosotros. La Iglesia Católica (Philip Benini), La Iglesia Bautista, La Iglesia Metodista Comunidad.

El próximo viernes día 12 cumple años de edad nuestro querido amigo Víctor Manuel Castro, hijo de los esposos Loly y Joche Castro, miembros agra- deados de nuestra colonia latina. Para Víctor nuestras felicitaciones y nuestros sinceros deseos de que muchísimos mas pueda pasar con sus padres y herman- nos.

La linda niña Lourdes María Cano, celebrará su cumpleaños el domingo día 14. A ella y a sus padres enviamos nuestros salu- dos y nuestros deseos, que ella siga creciendo como hasta ahora, llena de felicidad y con la alegría de sus hermanos y sus padres los esposos Loly y Joche Cano. Muchísimos mas Lourdes María.

Insurance Corner

By Milton Carpenter

If you own an aircraft, you probably have a sizeable financial investment between those wings. Therefore, you should concern yourself with insurance protection. There are two basic policies covering aircraft: one for damage to the aircraft itself and a liability policy which will cover injury or damage to other property. Let's talk about the protection for the aircraft itself today.

The coverage may apply to damage to the plane either on the ground, in flight or both. Some individual pilots buy ground insurance only, either because they think they're good enough to avoid a crash or because they don't think they'll be around to collect after a crash. Both are fallacious thinking. Rates for aircraft insurance aren't standardized. Much depends on the kind of flying to be done, and the underwriter's opinion of the owner, pilot and mechanics. So the law of large numbers isn't much help when so many variables make up the pie.
